

SURVIVORSHIP SIG

Chair: Prof Michael Jefford (Australia)

SIG aims:

To develop an international professional network / build awareness of survivorship issues / education / promote research, and disseminate research findings / inform policy (see SIG webpage)

Three key accomplishments since November 2020:

1. Momentum from several active subgroups (including below)
2. Our first educational webinar 'Managing sleep difficulties in people with cancer' (April 2021)
3. Already launched a Survivorship SIG member area of the IPOS website, and about to launch public-facing pages (as at end May 2021)

Three key initiatives for 2021 underway:

1. Audit of survivorship-focused presentations from past World Congress meetings
2. Survey of national cancer control plans – what mention is there of psycho-oncology in the post-treatment phase?
3. Developing an international survey of models of psycho-oncology care for post-treatment survivors
